

Cyber Criminals

A Presentation by the FBI

What can you do to prevent security threats within your company?

FBI agent, Rubin Lopez, suggests the following steps for protecting your company's vital information:

1. Recognize security threats.
2. Identify, validate, and protect trade secrets.
3. Implement a definitive plan to safeguard against threats.
4. Secure and limit user access to company data.
5. Cultivate accountability among employees.
6. Constantly reinforce security awareness throughout your organization.
7. Don't undervalue your company's information.
8. Use non-disclosure agreements for all employees.
9. Use non-compete agreements for all employees.
10. Perform regular IT audits.
11. Report suspicious dealings.
12. Education and awareness is crucial. Get employees on board!
13. Treat security as a serious, integrated component, not just a simple add-on.
14. Establish a Data Leak Protection position.
15. Change from reactive to preventative measures.
